I am not having you do any translation this week. However, your homework this week is a consistency lesson. I want you to write the λυω chart that you know to this point each day – not copying it but writing it. Afterwards check your work. I will look for you having at least 4 copies of the chart next week. (In my mind I am not including Saturday and Sunday; however, if you choose to write the chart those days that is up to you.)
